Re-use and UPcycle while saving money — 100+ New Mexico families selling their gently used outgrown kids items in one huge location.

Albuquerque, NM - On Friday, September 30, 2016 at 10 am New Mexico Kids Consignment Events will kick off its 7th seasonal consignment sale for quality kids' items. Consignors (approximately 100 local Albuquerque area families) brought together over 15,000 swings, highchairs, strollers, shoes, toys, clothes, maternity items and much more to this popup store. Interest in this unique concept has been growing rapidly.

The event is both a great way for families to earn extra money emptying out their closets and then save money filling them back up with items the right size for their growing children. This seasons consignment sale continues to be a draw for hundreds of price-savvy shoppers. Items that don't sell are donated to Joy Junction.

This consignment event is held each Spring and Fall at Expo New Mexico. New Mexico Kids Consignment Events is an event Central New Mexico families will not want to miss. Admission is free. Expo NM will charge $5/car for parking.

Doors open at 10 Friday, September 30. The sale will continue through Saturday, October 1st until 3 pm, when many items will be sold for half price. For full details, photos, directions and schedule, visit nmkidssales.com
